FALL 1982 #1

FREE

EDITORIAL COMMENT: "What's This All About?"

This is our first issue of "The Lounsbury Family Newsletter". It is our hope that it will flourish and be published several times a year. Our family is unique in that every Lounsbury - Lounsberry - Lounsbury in the U.S. and Canada is related. We are all descended from Richard Lounsbury of Yorkshire England.

The newsletter will contain information, past present and future, about the Lounsbury-Lounsberry-Lounsbury Family. The price will be a stamped self-addressed business envelope. We have sent you a copy in the hope that you would like to be part of our mailing list. We hope that you will contribute information or inquiries about your branch of the family.

Please send any information, questions or materials to Mrs. Marie Lounsbury, R.d. East berne, N.Y. 12509.

Lounsbury Reunion

On Saturday, July 24, over 150 descendants of Richard Lounsbury gathered at the Westerlo Town Park for their first annual reunion

In addition to the Helderberg Lounsburies, there were Lounsbury descendants present from all parts of New York State, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, South Dakota, California, and Canada. Surnames were varied including Moak, Fancher, Pearson, Orvasky, Quick, Slingerland, Clickman, Able, Snyder, Delamater, Yager, Mueller, Dennis, Griffin, Holcomb, and Berkhofer, to name a few.

Honored guests were Mrs. Edith Wicks, genealogist for the Stamford Historical Society, and Dr. Anna Perkins, family physician for many of the Lounsbury descendants and trusted friend.

Elected officers were President Henry Dennis, Jr., (Albany county legislator); Dennis Lounsbury, vice president; Janet Berkhofer, secretary; and James Lounsbury, treasurer. The board of directors includes Mrs. Porter Wright, Mrs. William Mueller, Patrick Lounsbury, Barbara Lounsbury and one vacancy.

Speakers for the event were Dr. Raymond Lounsbury and his wife, Lucille, of Hartwell, Ga. Dr. Lounsbury is the author of "Lounsbury Origin, Meaning and Significance" and "Pennoyer Brothers Colonization, Commerce, Charity in the Seventeenth Century." He narrated slides of his trips to Yorkshire, England, to research the Lounsbury ancestry. Ray has traced the family back to almost 1200, even finding St.

William in the bloodline. He proceeded to trace Richard Lounsbury who migrated from Yorkshire, England to Leiden, Holland and onto America in 1643. All Lounsburies in the U.S. and Canada are directly descended from him and eligible for the Pennoyer Grant at Harvard University.

A sumptuous covered dish lunch followed along with much conversation and a hotly contested volleyball game.

Two new books were published and available for this occasion: "Helderberg Lounsburies" compiled by Gertrude K. Dennis and Marie Lounsbury and "Lounsbury, Lounsbury, Lounsbury," compiled by B. Clark, G. K. Dennis and N. Lounsbury. For further information on these publications or future reunions contact Mrs. Patrick Lounsbury, East Berne, N.Y. 12059 or Mrs. Donald Berkhofer of Hannacroix

Editors Note : Janice Lounsbury, Janet Berkhofer and several other Helderberg Lounsburys visited his niece in Stone Ridge this month. She is going to be 93 yrs. old on Nov. 24th. She is very alert and would appreciate hearing from all of us. The house she resides in was slept in by Washington. It is also interesting to note that the Lounsbury family were close friends of the Duponts and the house is the inspiration for Winterhur in Delaware. Send cards to: Miss Sarah Lounsbury, Stone Ridge, N.Y.

Another famous William was the first Loyalist killed in N.Y.S. during the American Revolution. The following excerpt is from Military Affairs, Vol. XXVII, 1958 and was submitted by Capt. James Ferris. The description is that of an eye witness.

" William Lounsbury, a bold determined man. By General Howe's proclamation if any one enlisted sixty men he should have a Captain's commission. A counter proclamation from the American Congress, decreed death to anyone caught enlisting for the enemy. Lounsbury was 50 or 60 years old, I believe, and bald. He came from below and a sloop was to wait for his men below Delancey's Neck and take them over to Long Island. Lounsbury told his wife to send for Joseph Purdy and tell him, he was among the rocks of Great Lot ... (Purdy came and Lounsbury sent him to such loyalists as he thought could be induced to join with him.) Purdy told the men where Lounsbury was and he persuaded them to enlist. Purdy proved a traitor and informed the principal Whigs' of M(araronedk) . . . They marched to the Great Lots before Townsend let them know where or for what they were going - - Surrounding the fastnesses where Lounsbury was concealed, they called upon him and his party to surrender. Lounsbury refused to surrender though called upon repeatedly and defended himself with a club. Orders came from the commander to bayonet him, and he was killed with seven bayonets refusing to the last to yield. They found his enlisting, orders in his pockets, and a roll of men whom they secured."
